

Rubrics for Ministry Process Note

The process note demonstrates the student's ability to engage a particular pastoral experience with appropriate insights from his/her personal, cultural, and spiritual life and scripture and theology. Five elements to be considered:

- 1) methodology (follow the outline of Process Note as required);
- 2) integration of personal framework and pastoral context;
- 3) use of appropriate Scriptural and theological resources to inform pastoral experience;
- 4) integration of knowledge that leads to evaluation of pastoral response;
- 5) an Addendum to the Process Note that demonstrates ability to integrate wisdom gained from peer reflection session [omitted in Integration seminar].

Passing

1. able to follow a methodology for reflection using the Process Note outline as required,
2. able to engage and integrate personal framework and pastoral context with pastoral experience,
3. able to use appropriate and relevant Scriptural and theological resources to inform pastoral experience,
4. able to integrate knowledge from reflection that leads to evaluation of a pastoral response that is suitable.

Passing with distinction

1. able to follow a methodology for reflection that is well developed and nuanced,
2. able to make compelling connections with personal framework, cultural background, and pastoral context with pastoral experience,
3. able to use Scriptural and theological resources in an advanced way to inform pastoral experience,
4. able to integrate knowledge from reflection and offer a creative pastoral response to pastoral experience.
